Almost all professionals working with Final Cut Pro use this plugin. It's a great way to achieve full control over all aspects of your editing process and what it provides is just brilliant. After both DV and HDV files are ingested into the timeline, 7tox takes care of the rest, without the need for any manual intervention from you! Of course, there's a learning curve but a few hours of trial and error will be more than enough to get you up and running in no time. Some of the things that you can accomplish with this plugin include audio syncing, audio level curves adjustment, video dust and scratch removal, color correction and other professional effects. What's more, thanks to 7tox you can actually do most of the heavy lifting in real time. As soon as adjustments are made in Final Cut Pro, these are automatically updated real time, without placing any additional burden on your system. The only thing you have to do is position the playhead right on top of the source clip that requires correction and start working! Better yet, you will not have to go back and forth between Final Cut Pro X and Motion or Photoshop after finishing post production work. Just relax and let 7tox take care of the heavy lifting and then you can go back and forth between these applications. This allows you to get more done in less time. Plus, for those of you who like to preview your edits while they're being made, this plugin allows you to do that as well even if it's not connected to a display via 15-pin VGA or DVI (although it will not be able to do so if connected to a USB port. But it can use the screen of your laptop). There is no need for any additional hardware other than the appropriate monitor. Simply put, the 7tox plugin is very much like Final Cut Pro X's built-in effects. You can select any of the dozens of real-time FXs and tweak them to your liking. This also makes it much easier for both beginners and experienced users to achieve breathtaking results with very little effort. It would be practically impossible to achieve the same results without the use of this plugin since it provides an unparalleled control over all aspects of your editing process. The automation capabilities are also great for getting you up and running very quickly with no hassle whatsoever. There are 2 versions of 7tox, one for Final Cut Pro 5 and the other for Final Cut Pro 7. The plugin allows you to easily get your clips in sync with each other without the need for any manual intervention from you. There's also a built-in low-latency audio waveform monitor to make sure that adjustments are made to clips without leaving any gaps in the audio signal. 7tox is a tiny 1 MB plugin that is a must have for video editors who edit in Final Cut Pro X.
